Exciting Family Education Programs Coming Your Way!

Rabbi Dan

THE ATTITUDE OF GRATITUDE, JEWISH WAYS TO BE THANKFUL

We're all working hard to raise kids who show gratitude for life's blessings and who don't take those blessings for granted. Judaism has incredible stories, laws, and traditions to help us cultivate the attitude of gratitude. This year, Rabbi Dan Ornstein will be leading family education programs about gratitude for each of our grade cohorts in our school. Each program will allow parents and kids to come together to talk within a Jewish framework about being thankful.

Rabbi Eligberg

OMG!

We say it. We pray it. But what do we mean when we say GOD? Our sages had many names for GOD, each reflecting a different nuance of the Divine. Join Rabbi David Eligberg and your child's grade cohort for a family education program to discover how each of these images of GOD can help us develop and deepen our relationship with GOD.

Rabbi Weisbrot

TORAH,
TORAH,
TORAH!

We're likely all familiar with many of the stories and lessons our Torah teaches us – from Adam & Eve to Moses to "justice, justice you shall pursue" – but how much do we know about the physical Torah scroll itself? Join Rabbi Danielle Weisbrot for a family education program to learn about how the Torah is made and why it's dressed the way it is, as well as get some hands-on experience with the sefer Torah.
