Vale Urban Farm

at

Brandywine entrance to the Vale Cemetery in Schenectady

Please join us for a day of mitzvot, fun, sun, soil and animals (and possibly baby bunnies!)

as B'Yachad participates in it's second annual Sukkot Volunteer Day!

In concert with the agricultural theme of the Sukkot holiday, we will be helping the Vale Urban Farm with farm work.

The Vale Urban Farm

A joint project of Historic Vale Cemetery and

The Vale Urban Farm, near the Brandywine entrance to the Vale Cemetery in Schenectady was begun in October 2012. All food at the Vale Urban Garden is grown organically, using no pesticides or herbicides. The land has always been farmland. Their goal is to provide healthy, affordable food, medicinals and plants to our neighbors in the surrounding city, and bring food security and agricultural knowledge.
